

It ain't easy being fey and the subject of prophecy. Three worlds face danger. Ancient prophecy may defeat the separate evils, but will love survive? Lucidea had no idea her father wasn't human. Her uncle is held prisoner in the World Between Worlds by an ancient fire elemental. Now, as the half Alfar-Sindhu heir, she's unprepared to assume the leadership of an underwater world--a parallel universe. Then she meets Jaysson Zeroun... ..who has Otherworldly issues of his own. Evil continues to plague his family and protecting a newborn child takes priority over personal dreams. When Lucidea offers a sanctuary for the child's family at her Highlands manor, Jayse accompanies them to Scotland. He just doesn't know how Lucidea will react to the news he's a quarter Faerie, and heir to the rule of a world parallel to the human world. It's not easy being fey, and both Jayse and Lucidea fear what the other will do when they admit their heritages. Then pieces of an ancient prophecy are discovered in each of three parallel worlds, spiraling the evil menace closer. Will the ancient prophecy prove true, allowing them to finally conquer evil? Can their love survive?
